Examination of Application #10/683,575

1. Claims 1-63 of application 10/683,575, filed on 9-October-2003, are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections under 35 U.S.C. § 112, 2nd Paragraph

2. Claims 1, 3, 4, 11, 14, 15, 16, 19, 22, 25, 26, 27, 29, 32, 35, 38, 39, 44, 46, 47, 53, 54, 55, 56 and 61 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being vague and indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention, particularly:

In claim 3, "a heavily doped substrate". (emphasis added)

In claims 4, 15, 26 and 27, "a lightly doped substrate".

In claims 14, 16, 19, 22, 25, 44 and 56, "based on a simulation or a measurement".

In claims 39, "the range of contact sizes is from about 2.4 μm to about 100 μm ", and 55, "an area between about 2.4 μm to about 100 μm ". (Area should be in μm^2)

In claim 46, "values of x substantially equal to or greater then 10 μm ".

In claims 1, 11, 29, 32, 35, 38, 44, 53 and 61, "associated with".

In claim 47, "is from about".

In claim 54, "is from substantially".

Claim Rejections under 35 U.S.C. § 101

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefore, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3.1 Claims 1-63 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The invention claims (claim 1 preamble), "A method of substrate modeling"; and more particularly, "A method for determining a scalable Z parameter for a contact in a substrate, wherein the scalable Z parameter is associated with a resistance between the contact and a groundplane." (claim 38 preamble)

3.2 MPEP Section 2106(IV)(B)(2)(b)(ii) provides that a statutory computer process is determined not by how the computer performs the process, but by what the computer does to achieve a practical application with a useful, concrete and tangible result. For example, a computer process that simply calculates a mathematical algorithm that models noise is nonstatutory, while a claimed process for digitally filtering noise employing the mathematical algorithm is statutory. The long line of cases in this area that are referred to in MPEP Section 2106(IV)(B)(2)(b)(ii) exemplify this requirement, by utilizing in the claim language, terms such as controlling, executing, changing and removing. In view of the aforementioned requirement, the Examiner respectfully contends that the claim language of independent claims 1, 29, 35, 38, 44, 53 and 61, do not claim a practical application with a tangible result, that language claiming:

(In claim 1) determining (emphasis added) scalable Z parameters associated with at least two substrate contacts; constructing a matrix of the scalable Z parameters for the at least two substrate contacts; and calculating an inverse of the matrix to determine resistance values associated with the at least two substrate contacts.

3.3 For at least these reasons, the Examiner respectfully posits that the claims of the present invention do not meet the criteria for a statutory process. Accordingly, the claims are determined to be a method for determining a scalable Z parameter for a contact in a substrate, consisting solely of mathematical operations, converting one set of numbers into another set of numbers, whereby the method does not manipulate appropriate subject matter, and thus cannot constitute a statutory process (MPEP Section 2106(IV)(B)(2)(c)).

Claim Rejections under 35 U.S.C. § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4.1 Claims 1, 29, and 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the article authored by Chou et al., hereinafter Chou, entitled Multilevel Integral Equation Methods for the Extraction of Substrate Coupling Parameters in Mixed-Signal IC's.

Chou disclosed the invention as claimed, including: determining scalable Z parameters associated with at least two substrate contacts; constructing a matrix of the scalable Z parameters for the at least two substrate contacts; and calculating an inverse of the matrix to determine resistance values associated with the at least two substrate contacts [p. 20, Section I. Introduction].

Claim Objections

5. Claims 2-28, 30-34 and 36-37 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Allowed Claims

6. Claims 38-63 are deemed allowable over the prior art of record at this time, pending resolution of any rejections noted above.

Response Guidelines

7. A shortened statutory period for response to this action is set to expire 3 (three) months and 0 (zero) days from the date of this letter. Failure to respond within the period for response will cause the application to become abandoned (see MPEP 710.02, 710.02(b)).

7.1 Any response to the Examiner in regard to this non-final action should be
